McKinney's New War Hospital Is Taking Shape

Contractor Well Pleased With The Progress Being Made; Needs Bricklayers

FIFTY TO SIXTY CARS OF MATERIALS ARRIVING DAILY; MORE THAN 100 BRICKLAYERS NEEDED, SAYS W. G. REID OF THE REID-KANE CONSTRUCTION COMPANY; TILE AND BRICK WORK IS IN PROGRESS ON HOSPITAL UNITS.

A drive by the new war hospital site, North of McKinney, will reveal one of the busiest places in the state as hundreds of men about their duties in the erection of this huge hospital, one of several being built throughout the state to care for the injured and wounded of the present war.

Many of the buildings are rising skyward and can be seen for considerable distance from all sections, and as the hospital units to take shape one can not help but marvel at the difference in the scene from that of a few weeks ago before actual work began.

One of the busiest individuals in the city is W. G. Reid of the Reid-Kane Construction Company, who has been here for several months and whose offices are now in the hospital grounds. Wm. Kane, the same company also is here, and he, too, is lending every effort to the job that is theirs in the construction of this war hospital.

According to Mr. Reid, from fifty to sixty cars of material are being delivered daily of all kinds of needed materials, which is being unloaded over the nearly 300 cars site. Everybody is doing his best, he said, and sparing nothing in their desire to keep production going forward at a rapid rate. He expresses himself as well pleased with the progress being made.

Mr. Reid says that their greatest need at this time is for more bricklayers. More than 100 are needed. Workmen are busy seven days a week on the hospital and ten hours work each day close visible progress made at the close of each day's work. Messrs. Reid and Kane are splendid gentlemen and experts in the construction business and their enthusiasm and hard work is bearing fruit, as can be readily observed driving by the hospital site.

Prices Healthy For Registered Dairy Cattle

County Agricultural Agent Jack McCullough Says Farmers Looking To Methods Toward Greater Milk Production.

Through efficient use of their larger supplies of home-grown protein concentrates, dairymen in the Cotton Belt will have an opportunity to expand further their total milk production in 1943, the outlook report of the United States Department of Agriculture shows.

"The upward trend in milk production in the South Atlantic and South Central States is expected to continue. Feed grain supplies on October 1 were about the same as on October 1, 1941. However, larger supplies of cottonseed meal will be available in addition to a record large supply of peanut cake and meal," the Department's "Dairy Situation" states.

With the report stressing "materially larger" military and lend-lease requirement for milk and dairy products, the heavy responsibility upon Cotton Belt dairymen in the war effort is obvious. Dairy leaders throughout this region are emphasizing the necessity of well-balanced rations, many of them pointing out that most dairy rations do not contain adequate amounts of protein for maximum milk production. Protein, it has been pointed out, is the one and only element in feed that stimulates milk production.

Practical mixtures, containing adequate amounts of protein, are easy to prepare in the Cotton Belt through use of cottonseed meal or peanut meal, or a combination of both. In all dairy feeding, it is essential that the mixture fed be selected to supplement the available roughage, and that each cow be fed according to her individual production.

Low-Protein Roughages (Silage, grain sorghum or sweet sorghum fodder or hay, cottonseed hulls, Johnson, Bermuda and other grass hays) are the most common roughages in the Cotton Belt. A practical mixture to supplement these roughages, or for cows on dry grass, is: 200 pounds of dry corn chop or grain sorghum head chop; 100 pounds of ground oats or wheat bran; 200 pounds of cottonseed meal or peanut meal; 10 pounds of ground limestone or oyster shell flour; and 5 pounds of salt. Guernseys of Jerseys need about.

78 PER CENT AMERICANS BUY BONDS AND STAMPS

Dr. George H. Gallup, Head Of The Institute Of Public Opinion, Says The Findings Are Splendid Testimony To The Effectiveness Of The Treasury Department's War Savings Campaign.

A recent survey by the Gallup poll revealed that 8 per cent of Americans have bought War Bonds or Stamps.

Reporters for the poll asked a representative cross-section of the voting population this question: "Do you happen to have bought any war bonds or stamps?"

The result was: Yes, 78 percent. No, 22 percent.

Dr. George H. Gallup, head of the Institute of Public Opinion, said the findings were splendid testimony to the effectiveness of the Treasury Department's War Savings Campaign.

Seeking the answer to the failure of one out of every five adult Americans to buy War Bonds or Stamps, Dr. Gallup made a further study and found that two large segments of the population—the lower income group and farmers—are responsible for this situation.

Following is a table comparing the purchase by the various groups:

A stiff routine of instruction, physical conditioning, and naval hard-fighting bluejackets out of these new recruits, will take most of their time during the next few weeks. At the end of their training period, they will be granted a nine-day "boot" leave, at which time they will probably come home.

The new McKinney recruits are: Ruben David Isabell, 18, husband of Etta Isabell, 412 South Benge Street and Louis Cameron Miller, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Miller, 416 West Virginia.

His family is remaining in Houston, where he has been prominent in legal circles the past few years.

High-Protein Roughages (Alfalfa and other legume hays) are adequately supplemented by this mixture: 500 pounds of ear corn chop or grain sorghum head chop; 300 pounds of ground oats or wheat bran; 200 pounds of cottonseed meal or peanut meal; 10 pounds of steamed bone meal; and 10 pounds of salt. Feed Jerseys or Guernseys 3 pounds of the mixture per gallon of milk produced, and Holsteins 2 1-4 pounds per gallon of milk.

Professional 92 percent 8 percent Businessmen 88 percent 12 percent White-collar Workers 88 percent 12 percent Skilled & Semi-Skilled Workers 78 percent 22 percent Unskilled and Service Workers 65 percent 35 percent

Furthermore, some sections of the country are far better bond and stamp buyers than the others. The East Central section, comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, is highest on the list, in the relative proportion who have bought bonds or stamps, 81 per cent of the voting adults have bought bonds or stamps in this area. The New England, Middle Atlantic and East Central areas are next, with 79 percent holding bonds or stamps. Next comes the mountain area and the far west, with 78 percent. The south stands lowest in the sectional groupings, with 68 per cent of the voting population having bought bonds and stamps.

News From War Front

AMERICANS AND BRITISH ARE PROGRESSING SLOWLY THROUGH AXIS MINE FIELDS

SHOW DOWN BATTLE INDICATED BETWEEN BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY AND ROMMEL'S AXIS FORCES; DARLAN IS COLLABORATING WITH PETAIN IN FRANCE.

BULLETINS. The Allies are dividing their forces in North Africa and have three main divisions. One division has pushed to the Eastern coast and another has driven a wedge between Tunis and Bizerte. The Allied soldiers are progressing slowly through mine fields. Air battles are heavy, with the Allies gaining the advantage. A report from Algiers, unconfirmed, says that the Germans are withdrawing their air forces from Tunisia.

Indications point to a show down battle between the British Eighth Army and the Rommel's retreating axis army. The British are pounding the German heavily with their artillery.

Darlan, in charge of the Free French forces in North Africa, is said to be in contact with Petain in France, who is said to be supporting Darlan in his efforts to cooperate with the American forces in North Africa.

Mussolini, in a weak attempt to bolster Italian morale, called on the Italian people to flee the cities that are being bombed by the British. He admitted heavy damage to Italian cities by the big bombers and admitted that 1,500 buildings in Genoa have been destroyed by the RAF.

An air struggle of an intensity unequalled since the Battle of Britain is raging over Tunisia as Germans and Italians rushed in reinforcements to sea and air in a frantic bid to keep their footholds on the coastal rim and British, Americans and French drove spearheads forward to slice them into at least three pockets.

Admiral Jean Guian, acting with the assertion that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain is a prisoner of the Germans at Vichy, has taken over authority as chief of state in French Africa. It was announced Tuesday night from Morocco.

American and Australian troops slowly are contracting their grip on the enemy along a narrow strip of the Northeastern New Guinea coast between Gona and Buna and four more Japanese destroyers are hunting off-shore, apparently attempting to land reinforcements for the beleaguered garrison. The Allied command announced Wednesday.

The virtually unending horde of America's Pacific fleet, the submarines who often stalk their quarry in Japan's closely guarded home waters, have sunk five more Japanese ships, including a destroyer, and damaged two others, one of which probably sank, the Navy announced Tuesday.

Former Collin County Young Man Teaches Industrial Education At Splendid School In East Texas.

We are pleased to enroll the name of Prof. S. O. Randles, of New London, Texas, as a reader of the big Weekly Democrat-Gazette.

Prof. Randles, wife and son, Kenneth Dwayne, spent the Thanksgiving holidays in this city and while here he called by this office to subscribe for the Keelby and to chat for awhile. He is a former Collin County educator and taught at Milligan, Viney Grove, Stiff Chapel and Princeton, going to Taylor, Texas, for a year and then going to New London. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Randles, who live in Northeast Collin.

Prof. Randles is well pleased with the New London School. It is a fifty-four teacher school with 975 students from the first to the twelfth grades. In addition there is a colored school near by with eight teachers and 300 students.

Ten buses bring students from as far as eighteen miles to the New London school. Prof. Randles says and the school consists of eleven buildings. The school district is one of the richest to be found, the school district evaluations being $19,000,000.00. The school district has twenty-four oil wells, one of which is located on the school campus.

Prof. Randles is a graduate of the East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce and holds his B. S. Degree from that school. He is teaching Industrial Education at the New London school and is making a splendid success of his work.

At least ten members of the Randles family are subscribers to the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette and these Editors have no finer friends anywhere than the Randles family, whom we esteem highly.

Schools Of Texas Buy $3,500,000 U.S. Bonds

New Issue Purchase Brings Investment To $20,390,000, Says Official.

The State Board of Education Tuesday purchased $3,500,000 of the United States Treasury bonds which came on the market as of December 1. This makes a total of $20,390,000 of United States bonds of late issues acquired by the Texas school fund. Most of them are war bonds.

The bonds acquired Tuesday bear 2 1-2 per cent interest, become optional in 1963 and mature in 1968. First of the federal issues acquired was in 1939, when the board bought $2,800,000. Recently it purchased $10,000,000 of the ten-year war bonds and later an additional $3,000,000.

Until the special Treasury issues were made available to heavy purchasers the Texas permanent school fund accumulated a large cash balance that was lying idle in Treasury and bank vaults. It reached over $11,000,000 at one time and is now down to $500,000. No part of the permanent principal can be touched, except for investment purposes, therefore the available school fund was suffering because of no income from the huge cash balance. All bond interest goes to the available fund and with an average yield of 2 1-2 per cent the federal bonds are contributing approximately $500,000 annually to the school children. The state pays $22.50 per capita annually in this apportionment.

With Tuesday's action interest was revived as to who Gov. Coke Stevenson will appoint to the three vacancies which occur at the end of this month. Board members whose terms expire are J. C. Blair, Kerens, D. F. Youngblood, San Antonio, and Irvin McClellan. Temple, all appointed six years ago by Gov. James V. Allred. No hint has come from the Governor's office as to whether any of these members will be re-appointed.

Mrs. C. P. Heard has returned from Houston where she spent the past month. She was called to Houston to the bedside of her brother, J. P. Galbreath, who passed away in a Houston hospital while his sister was there. Mr. Galbreath was well-known in McKinney where he had often visited, and had many friends who regretted to learn of his passing.

MCKINNEY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1942.

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right.—Abraham Lincoln.

The fool doth think he is wise, but the wise man knows himself to be a fool.—Shakespeare.

Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him.—Proverbs 26-12.

INFLUENCE OF NAZI IN FRANCE.

Since German occupation of France, juvenile delinquency has frightfully increased at a time when the nation counted entirely on the contribution of its youth. The figures published in Viehy, during these last days, show 40,000 cases in the juvenile courts in 1941, compared with 15,000 before the war. The number for Paris alone was 10,000 against 3,000 in 1937.

To remedy this alarming increase of delinquency, the government will promulgate a law to abandon the repressive action against persons under the age of eighteen. All minors arraigned will be kept under observation in medical centers attached to the courts, which will prescribe re-educational courses for the correction of this delinquency.

THIS WINTER IN RUSSIA.

The Russian drive against the Nazi line in the rear of Stalingrad may not in itself be highly significant, says the Dallas News. Yet, developments on the Russian front this winter will be highly significant, regardless of what happens. World destiny depended upon the Russian line's holding during the last summer. Failing of their objectives, the Germans lost the war. Now, the length of the war largely depends upon the amount of pressure the Russians are able to exert during the winter.

The Germans may be able to go through the winter with less suffering than is generally calculated, unless the Russians can strike with enough impact to throw them out of the positions where they have dug in for the winter. The Nazis suffered greatly last winter, primarily because, first, it was an exceptionally cold season, and second, they were unprepared. They had gambled everything on capturing Moscow and Leningrad before cold weather, neglecting to prepare winter quarters along the lines before these two cities.

During this past summer, they have undoubtedly dug in for the winter except on the right flank where all of their strength and resources have gone into offensive action. If the Russians can strike with sufficient force to dislodge the Nazis from their winter quarters, then at last Hitler's legions will be in the desperate straits that have long been pictured for them, that of Napoleon's army on its retreat from Moscow. If the Russians can strike with such force, the war with Germany could be brought to an early termination.

This line of speculation detracts nothing from the importance of our own battle in North Africa. The two fronts are one and the same thing in grand cause and effect. The more pressure we exert in the south, the more men and fighting equipment Hitler must necessarily divert from Russia to the southern front. But the immediate opportunity for precipitating Nazi disaster will lie during the winter in Russia, not along the shores of the Mediterranean.

NORTH AFRICAN GRANARY.

To most readers North Africa is a region of desert, sand, occasional oases, nomadic tribesmen on fleet steeds, says the Dallas News. The movies are partly responsible for a lot of misinformation about Morocco, Algiers and other countries which to most theatergoers are the home of romantic sheiks carrying off moonstruck maidens. But North Africa, since its occupation by the French, Italians and Spaniards during the last 100 years, has been given a considerable measure of stability and an increased productive capacity, comparable to the period of Carthaginian, and later Roman, exploitation of the region's food resources.

Although large areas along the Mediterranean coast are desert, having only three to ten inches of annual rainfall, too scant for dependable crop production, there are numerous valleys fed by rivers rising in the Atlas Mountains, reaching heights of 13,000 and 15,000 feet, which obtain abundant irrigation water from extensive snow fields and rain-drenched highlands. In fact, considerable territory enjoys an underflow of moisture which feeds olive groves, vineyards and fig orchards. But the important crop of North Africa is soft wheat, which under scientific farming, impounding of water and pumping plants yields fairly dependable harvests from an estimated 25,000,000 acres. Barley, millet and dryland sorghums fatten large herds of meat animals, all of which must be added to the other large quantities of food products annually transported to France, Italy and, in the past two years, to Nazi Germany.

By careful cultivation, which the French have taught the Berber and Arab natives, products valued at nearly $300,000,000 annually have left North Africa for Europe. The loss of this great supply of food and other basic materials, coming not only from North Africa, but from the African west coast and the interior, peanuts, coconuts, palm oil, castor beans, rubber, now suddenly halted by the American and British occupation, is certain to have profound bearing upon the future subsistence of both conqueror and subject people. The North African larder, now closed to Nazi Germany, may well bring on a food crisis and resultant complications which would shorten the war.

Zane Anderson, An Hondo Field Near San Antonio

The office force of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette are in receipt of a letter from Private Adrian Zane Anderson who is in the Army Air Forces Navigation School at Hondo, Texas. Zane formerly worked for these papers, first as a carrier boy, later as a reporter and also in the mechanical department. He is a fine young man who always did his work well and is rendering Uncle Sam some worthwhile services. He holds the esteem of every one of our force with whom he was associated for some time and we all wish him well. His letter is interesting to us and will no doubt be enjoyed by his many other friends here. It is as follows:

"Hello Gang:
"Well, I presume that you thought I wasn't going to write you but I have really been very busy and just haven't had time, poor excuse isn't it? But really I have been drilling every day except Sunday since I arrived here. I left Mineral Wells Friday morning, arriving here about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon. The following Monday morning I began marching from about 8 to 5 o'clock and believe me, you are really tired after you get dismissed. I have only one more week of my three weeks basic training and then I should be transferred to some other place, although I don't know where I am supposed to get to go to school. I don't know yet what I am going to do but I signed up for sheet metal work. After you sign on the dotted line they put you where they want you.
"But, after all, it is a pretty good thing, and I guess that I will like it all right, after I get all fixed up. In fact, it isn't so bad now. The only thing, you stand in line for practically everything you do, and I do mean everything.
"Oh yes, I have been receiving the paper every day since last Saturday and I really enjoy it. Thanks a lot.
"Well, I will sign off for the present and go to bed. I have got to roll out at 5 o'clock in the morning for dress parade, in full uniform. All of you write real soon, as I will really appreciate hearing from you.
As ever your pal,
ZANE."

Farmer Makes Own Sugar With Beets
Sugar rationing isn't going to bother Farmer Beets Seively a bit. He has his curiosity to thank for that. Mr. Seively will process his own sugar on his 50-acre farm near Wilson, Oklahoma. The first breath of the war brought back sugar shortage visions to Mr. Seively. He decided to experiment with home remedies.
The farmer planted a whole row of sugar beets. Tuesday he brought one to Ardmore for appraisal. It weighed 3 1/2 pounds which is a sizeable beet in anyone's country.
"I'll feed the beet pulp to my beef cattle," he said, "and process enough sugar with the rest of it. I think I'll throw away my sugar card."

Salvation Army Makes Appeal In Collin County

The Salvation Army is making its customary appeal this week in Collin County for funds to help carry on their program in the Texas Division. W. D. Pedigo, representative from State Headquarters of Dallas, who has been coming here for many years, is here to conduct the canvass, to be supervised by the County Advisory Board.

This appeal affords the citizenship an economical and dependable means of assisting the organization in their broad program of humanitarian and spiritual services, so well remembered by war veterans, and is intended for the entire year unless some unforeseen emergency arises. Any other solicitations supposedly for the Salvation Army are without proper authority.

It is well to remember the Salvation Army in these trying times.

Mr. Pedigo has been coming here for several years and is well and favorably known in this city and county.

Members of the County Advisory Board, according to Mr. Pedigo, are: Judge G. R. Smith, Chas. M. Cooper, W. Hammond Moore, C. E. Melton, and Don W. Bagwell, all of McKinney.

Coffee Purchases Begin With Stamp From Ration Book

While housewives, going to market during the week from November 22 through November 28, were not able to buy any coffee starting Sunday, November 29, coffee purchases may begin again by surrendering one stamp from War Ration Book No. 1, the book they have been using for sugar purchases during this year. Elton Riggs, Chairman of the Collin County War Price and Rationing Board, explained today.

"Retail coffee sales were frozen during that one week for the purpose of enabling storekeepers to stock their shelves for the beginning of ration sales," Mr. Riggs said.

In order to prepare for coffee rationing, he advised, those who do not have War Ration Book No. 1 or who have lost it should apply immediately to the local War Price and Rationing Board.

"When coffee rationing begins November 29," he said, "War Ration Book No. 1, which most people probably call the 'sugar book,' will then be used for buying coffee. The stamp is in the book No. 28 and down to 20 will be coffee stamps. The first coffee ration stamp is No. 27, then in order follow 25, 26, 23, 24, 21, 22 and 20."

He explained that this apparently disconnected sequence of the stamp numbers is to be used because of the arrangement of the stamps in the ration book.

"Another important point to bear in mind," he said, "is that only those whose ration books show them to be over 15 years old may purchase a pound of coffee for each of these coffee stamps. Persons who have attained the age of 15 years since the ration book was issued are not eligible to purchase coffee. The reason for this age limitation is to allow larger coffee rations for grownups."

The first ration period will be for five weeks from November 29 through January 3, 1943.

"Consumers who have stocked up on coffee will have to count all above one pound they have on hand November 28 as a part of their ration," he added. "When the consumer applies for War Ration Book No. 2 sometime after the first of the year he will be required to declare the amount of coffee he had on hand at the start of the rationing and stamps will be removed from his book to cover any excess supply. This means that the consumer will be unable to continue coffee purchases until he has used up his stock on hand at the rationed date."

Mr. Riggs explained that coffee stamps in the ration books of children under 15 years of age must be left in their books and will be surrendered when War Ration Book No. 2 is issued.

For the benefit of those who live in remote localities or where transportation facilities make the buying of supplies in small quantities a hardship, Mr. Riggs pointed out that a consumer may apply to his Ration Board for a certificate to buy as much as five pounds of coffee at a time, but in such instances, of course, a sufficient number of stamps will be removed by the Board to cover such advanced rations.

In spite of the shortage of coffee, Mr. Riggs emphasized that the price of coffee is controlled by the OPA regulations and no one should pay more than a particular merchant's ceiling price.

Mr. Riggs added a word of warning to coffee buyers, advising them not to rush to a store on November 29 with all of a family's ration books and try to buy all of the coffee the stamps in those books might allow.

"There will be enough coffee for everyone," he said. "That is the very reason why rationing is being started. Coffee loses its freshness and flavor if it is kept too long and it will be far wiser to buy a pound at a time as it is needed. Stamp No. 27 will be valid for five weeks and most grocers will have coffee all during that period any time it is wanted."

Mr. Riggs explained that coffee stamps in the ration books of children under 15 years of age must be left in their books and will be surrendered when War Ration Book No. 2 is issued.

For the benefit of those who live in remote localities or where transportation facilities make the buying of supplies in small quantities a hardship, Mr. Riggs pointed out that a consumer may apply to his Ration Board for a certificate to buy as much as five pounds of coffee at a time, but in such instances, of course, a sufficient number of stamps will be removed by the Board to cover such advanced rations.

Practical Gifts

WE'LL REMEMBER THIS CHRISTMAS!

War-time Christmas live in the memory long after the happy, care-free ones are forgotten. For the shadow that war casts over every home, is intensified at this season. We must not let the radiance of Christmas be dimmed. Joyous occasions like this are part of our way of life. And Christmas is one of the things we're fighting for. There must be giving... generous giving, but no gift should be extravagant.

ACKNOWLEDGING GOD'S BLESSINGS.

AT THIS TIME OF YEAR, many people are recounting their blessings and giving thanks to God for the abundance of good bestowed on man. Some may think they have little for which to be grateful to God, but those who think this are judging His blessings by material things, and not by spiritual values. A kind word, a friendly deed, a loving hand outstretched to one in need, an understanding heart, all these are manifestations of God's love. Such expressions are spiritual, and none of them can be destroyed or superseded by the material elements which claim to hold sway. Material things crumble to destruction, but the things of Spirit endure forever. And who will say that this fact is not something for which all can be grateful?

Spiritual understanding, then is what we most need—a better understanding of God, of the real man, and of the universe of God's creating. Spiritual understanding enables one to see the human mind as it really is, and not as it is often artificially expressed. He who helps to meet such needs is rewarded with spiritual blessings. Even such a seemingly small thing as a happy smile may help to brighten the day for someone, and much good can come from it. Compensation may not be outwardly visible for loving kindness, but increased growth in grace is the richest compensation. Always should be happy to be able to bring, even in small degree, some joy to another. And happiness practically calls for gratitude.

Some might wonder what they have to give, particularly those who have no material riches. But what of the wealth of spiritual life that can be given unspendingly, because it comes from eternal and infinite Mind? Who does not at some time need the love which reflects divine Love, the tender compassion which reflects Soul, Spirit? Our need may often seem to be for money, clothing, food, and the other daily necessities. But as we give of our spiritual storehouse, of what wealth which the Father bestows impartially on all His children, not only will our own human needs be supplied, but those with whom we have shared a little of our understanding of the illness of God will also be blessed. They will be enriched in the measure of their increased understanding of spiritual truths, and their human needs will be supplied. Christ Jesus said (Matthew 6:32, 33): "Your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." "All these things" may refer to any need; but God knows what we "have need of," and He supplies all good.

We may think our need is material; but the answer to our prayers, if rightly understood, is always of a spiritual nature and comes in the form of a demonstration of the illness of Love. For instance, the healing may be of unlovely traits of character, sometimes of long standing, which brought only suffering and unhappiness. As we gain a better understanding of God, we gain a better concept of the real man, as His reflection. The overcoming of false traits through more loving, unselfish thinking and living, contributes much to the harmony of the home and the outside world, and is surely cause for thanksgiving. As we know the unreality of such beliefs, and in the measure of our own Christly example, help others to cast them

Sharing Meat At Butchering Time

Butchering time has arrived and farmers are asking how to comply with the Share-the Meat program when they have excess quantities of fresh meat.

Miss Charlotte Boyse, County Home Demonstration Agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service, suggests an answer to this question.

First, she says, stagger butchering of hogs. Instead of butchering two or three at one time, butcher one, then wait a few weeks to butcher another.

Second, share fresh meat with neighbors at butchering time. Families can "take turn about" in butchering, trading meat between them.

Third, cure hams, shoulders, bacon, and loins. Can the sausage. This leaves the spareribs, head the feet and only meat to be consumed at the time of butchering. The other parts of the animal such as the heart, liver, and tongue are not included in the weekly sharing allowance. Miss Boyse says similar management should be followed when a family butchers beef, veal, and mutton.

Finally, the agent says: "If these suggestions cannot be followed, farmers may find it necessary to consume larger quantities of meat in any one week, but the average of two and one-half pounds per adult should be maintained throughout the year. The important thing is: Don't waste meat and don't eat more than your share."

Free publications on killing, cutting, and storing are available from county Extension Service agents or from Extension headquarters at College Station.

Third grade, Betty Crank, Betty Jo Henderson.

Fifth grade, Jane Angel.

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (Pref., p. vii): "To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, to-day is big with blessings." She also writes on page 1: "Desire is prayer, and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exalted before they take form in words and in deeds." True prayer is the giving of thanks; thanks to God, the omniscient, omnipresent, omnipotent Being, who heals our sickness and sins. —The Christian Science Monitor.

Collin Youth Will Train As U. S. Navy Man

Walter H. Nevil of Route 3, Farmersville, has received the following interesting letter from the Naval Training School, Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, regarding his son Walter H. Nevil, Jr. The letter which Mr. Nevil appreciated follows:

"As you know, your son has been selected for advance training as a Navy man. He has been enrolled at this school for this purpose.

"During the eight weeks he will be here, he will be given a specialized course as a Motor Mechanic's Mate which will give him the theory, operation, maintenance and repair of Diesel and Gasoline engines.

"We are very happy to have him as a student. This letter is to assure you that we are intensely interested in giving him valuable training. Upon successful completion of the course, he is eligible for promotion in rate and pay. He will have an education in a skill which will increase his value to the Navy and be of great worth to him upon his return to civilian life.

"Since his selection for further training calls for congratulations to him, and because many of his friends may not be aware of the opportunities within the Navy for education in special trades, it is suggested that you might furnish news of his progress to your local newspaper and generally inform your neighbors. In the event that any news is published, I would be very happy to receive a copy of the item.

"Please feel free to write us for any information you may desire regarding your son, or his progress in school.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE C. RAY,

Back To God And His Word

By J. L. PUMMILL.

Romans, 12:1, 2. I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God.

In the preceding chapters of the book of Romans, Paul had been showing to the Jewish Christians, that they were no better than the Gentile Christians, and to the Gentile Christians, that they were no better than the Jewish Christians, but was showing them, that the old law given by Moses which was the middle all of partition between Jew and Gentile, had been done away with and that they were all one in Christ. To bad people of today haven't learned that! Ephesians, 2:11-22.

The Jews had been commanded to offer the very best animal, they had for a sacrifice, and the Gentile had been doing the same. Paul tells them or rather beseeches them to offer their bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is their reasonable, not unreasonable, as some would say now. How can one do that now? By doing just what Paul said. Get back to God and his word. Notice: be not conformed (or fashioned) according to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove, what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God.

Who was Paul talking to? Talking to folks who had been converted. Not to some one who had joined some denomination and was going on just like he did before. He was talking to folks who had seen the error of their way and had repented of the same, turned to God and his word, and done what His word had told them to do to get rid of their past sins.

One who claims to be a Christian can't live like folks who claim to be and please God. One can only please God by living a life above the world, above the things that people do that do not claim to be Christian. How can one know how to do that? By studying the word of God, and presenting his body a living sacrifice. Colossians, 3:1-11, Paul says, to Christians, If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affections on things above, and not on things in the earth. For you are dead, and your lives are hid with Christ in God. When Christ who is your life shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Mortify therefore your members (Your body) which are upon the earth; fortification, uncleanness, inordinate affections, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry.

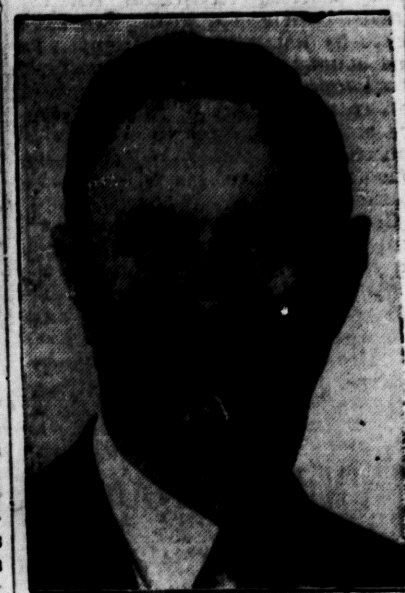

For which things sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience. Before you were converted you walked in them. But now you put off all these: anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Don't tell anything that a lady could not listen to. But let your conversation as becometh saints, Ephesians 5:3.

When God made man, He made him a body, placed in that body a soul that shall never die. If man will take God's word, obey its teachings, he can keep the body holy acceptable unto God, which is a reasonable service.

Remember our Lord came to this earth, in a body of flesh, to show us how to keep the body holy acceptable unto God. Also remember he always relied on the word of God for his strength. It keeps one busy presenting his body in living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God. It will be worth it in the end.

Santa Claus To Arrive In City Friday, Dec. 11

Santa Claus will arrive in McKinney Friday, December 11, when a downtown street parade will be held in his honor at 3 o'clock. Word from the North Pole is that St. Nick will be equipped with all kinds of toys and good things to eat, although the war has caused him to change the style of some of his gifts, where ordinary materials were not available due to the war effort.

Motorless Parade

As might be supposed, the gasoline rationing will be in effect, but shortages of gasoline and the rubber conservation program doesn't bother Santa Claus greatly. In fact the parade in which he will be honored, will be a motorless parade, with Santa going back to the type of transportation he formerly knew so well, a Shetland horse and buggy.

Following the parade a program will be given on the public square, at which Santa Claus will give gifts for all the good little boys and girls.

Hal L. Dyer, General Chairman of the Christmas holiday program in McKinney, and all committees are busy working out details for the Yuletide observance this year, which is more difficult than formerly due to the war.

Business and Homes Asked To Decorate

Through a request of the War Production Board, the local committee points out that there will be no outside street lighting this year, to conserve wire and other materials, but Mr. Dyer and his committees ask that merchants and homes decorate their places of business and homes as usual. Merchants are asked to have all their decorations, including lights, in place Friday, December 11, when Santa Claus arrives and home owners are also asked to have their decorations and lights in place at the same time.

The downtown street parade will be featured by the McKinney High School Band and student body.

Chairmen of Committees

Chairmen of committees working on the Christmas program, says Mr. Dyer, are: Phil Wolford, Chairman of the Finance Committee; Jimmy Foster, Chairman of the Decorations; Down Town; Wofford, Thompson, Chairman of the Advertising and Publicity; and A. M. Scott, Jr., Chairman of the Program Committee. The committee say that Santa Claus plans to visit the rural schools of the county during the Yuletide season, and a practical man that he is, he will ride in the truck that regularly visits the schools of the county in the usual education program, since gasoline is available for that purpose and the sponsors' worst mind having an extra passenger along, particularly if he is St. Nick, says County Superintendent J. W. Moseley.

Another feature of the Yuletide program in McKinney will be the Christmas records that will be played over the loud speaker truck of Finney's Bakery, of which Bill Finney is owner and manager. This program will be in progress for two weeks preceding Christmas, Mr. Dyer and other committees say.

Thanksgiving Is Observed In McKinney

McKinney business was at a standstill Thursday as the city joined the nation in the observance of Thanksgiving Day. The occasion was different this year, with this nation engaged in a global war and with few homes in the city and county but what some one is in the armed forces of his country.

The day, for the most part, was quietly and reverently spent by the citizenship of this city and county. Union Thanksgiving church services were held Wednesday night at the First Presbyterian Church in this city at which the Pastor, Dr. R. L. Cowan, was in charge and at which Rev. Earl J. Rogers, pastor of the Full Gospel Church, was the solo speaker, bringing a wonderful message to a large congregation that packed the church to capacity. A choir of voices from all churches of the city furnished music for the occasion, directed by Miss Irene Marley, organist for the host church.

There were many family dinners and reunions, especially where sons and brothers and husbands of McKinney citizens were home for the Thanksgiving holidays on furloughs.

The City Hall and the Court-house were closed for the day with the exception of the law enforcement offices and the city's short wave police radio station.

Rev. Rogers, whose subject was "Our Thanksgiving," said, "I wish to emphasize the word Our and trust that we shall realize what a glorious privilege we have in celebrating once again National Thanksgiving Day.

"National Thanksgiving Day. Where did such a beautiful custom originate? Was it at Plymouth in 1621 when Governor Bradford proclaimed the first Thanksgiving Day in the new land of America? Or was it through the untiring efforts of a noble woman by the name of Mrs. Sarah Hale of Philadelphia, who for years appealed to the Governor of the different states to adopt a day for Thanksgiving as did her native New England States, and finally appealing to President Lincoln after the battle of Gettysburg to appoint the last Thursday in November as a National Thanksgiving Day?

"No, let us go back farther than this to the Bible and in 1st Chronicles 16:7 to this statement 'Then on that day did David make it the chief work to give thanks unto the Lord.' What was the occasion for this great rejoicing? The Ark of the Covenant had been returned to Jerusalem. This day represented the presence of God."

Rev. Rogers said, "Our Thanksgiving should be in appreciation for the 'Presence of God.' While other lands are torn by wars, strife and hatred. Ours has not as yet suffered devastation and ruin by the means of modern warfare. Other lands have experienced forced migrations, fleeing populations, families torn asunder, and atrocities too horrible, cruel, and vile to mention. While to us in this grand land which God has given to us, only know of these things through the stories that come from the oppressed in other lands. The specter of starvation is stalking in the war zone while we are well fed, well clothed, and well sheltered.

"We can be thankful that we still live in a land enjoying religious liberty," he said. "The people of Europe have been robbed of this glorious privilege.

"We can be thankful that we live in a country which has no selfish designs or territorial ambitions at the expense of other countries.

"It appears now that we will have to feed the world when this great conflict is over, and how we should thank God that we have the good soil and ideal climate to make this job a pleasure. We have sent our missionaries across the oceans to tell the natives of foreign lands the sweet old story of Jesus and His perfect love. Now we have the greatest opportunity of all time in putting that perfect love into action. And if done in the right spirit we will gather in the grain of the years of sowing of precious seed. Wouldn't it be the most welcome news ever heard to hear the great nation of China referred to as Christian China? My friends, let us thank God for the opportunity and go to work to that end.

Some time ago, Rev. Rogers said a group of atheists wrote to President Roosevelt that he refuse to proclaim National Thanksgiving, since there was a war and strife, hunger and bloodshed all over the world.

"I notice that their appeal went into the waste paper basket. And little did those men realize that it was people of their very calibre that has brought about the very conditions of which they are complaining about.

"Above all we should be thankful for the knowledge and assurance that God is still on the throne, and He still has a personal interest in our welfare. If we will but be thankful and acknowledge Him as our great God and Creator. Pray and seek His face and counsel then He will lead us into certain victory and very soon."

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. O'Brien of McKinney spent Thanksgiving in Corsicana, guests of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Binford and family and her brother, Lawrence Binford and family.

Lieut. Rogers Kelley Heads Texas Masons

Pat Neff, President Of Baylor University, Waco, Is Elected Grand Junior Warden.

Despite challenges as to its validity, the Grand Lodge of Texas Masons elected officers Wednesday afternoon on the first day of its annual convention, naming Lieut. Rogers Kelley Grand Master.

The question of the legality of the balloting arose over the fact that the constitution of the order requires that the election be held on the second day of the annual communication.

After the introduction of resolutions, motions, amendments to motions and motions an ex-pungement motion, red tape was cut by decision that Grand Master E. M. Wood at 5 p. m. move up his wrist watch to 12:02 a. m. and call it another Masonic day, as is often done by legislative bodies.

The parliamentary tangle arose because of the lodge had cut its usual two-day convention to one day to solve the problems of congested hotel and transportation facilities.

Pat Neff, President of Baylor University, was elected grand junior warden, starting at the bottom of the line of elective officers. He won over J. Dixie Smith, Houston, and Maxey Hart, San Antonio.

Service Money Voted.

Twenty thousand dollars was appropriated for the National Masonic Service Association, and that organization was invited to come into Texas for the establishment of service centers for the entertainment and service of Masons in the Army and Navy.

Claude L. Austin, Dallas, was elevated from the post of Grand Senior Warden to that of Deputy Grand Master. Following the time-honored custom of succession, he will become the top man in Texas Masonry in December, 1943. Bascom Giles, Austin, State Land Commissioner, was elected Grand Senior Warden; J. J. Galaher, Waco, was re-elected Grand Treasurer and George H. Belew, Waco, re-elected grand secretary.

Lieutenant Kelley is the first man in active military service to be elected head of the Texas Grand Lodge since the days of the republic. He is a lean, tall aviator who has been making his own way since he used to sell newspapers and run a popcorn business during his grammar school days in his home town of Henrietta, Clay County. He worked as a soda jerker while going to high school.

U. N. Clary of Prosper, well known Collin County citizen and active in Masonic circles for several years, was named District Deputy Grand Master of District 9, comprising Collin County Masonic Lodges. He succeeds Will J. Rhea of McKinney, who has served in that capacity for the past year.

RATION BOARD MAY ISSUE TEMPORARY GAS RATIONS TO ALL TRUCK OPERATORS

Elton Riggs, Chairman Of Board War Price And Rationing Board, Says Will Issue Temporary Gasoline Rations To Truck Operators Pending Issuance Of ODT Certificates Of War Necessity.

Elton Riggs, Chairman of the Collin County War Price and Rationing Board, announced today that the board may issue temporary gasoline rations to truck operators pending the issuance to them of ODT Certificates of War Necessity, or until December 31, while such certificates are being corrected.

Otherwise, he said, the County War Price and Rationing Board must follow gasoline ration figures set by the Office of Defense Transportation, in "tailoring" transport mileage ration books.

"The County War Price and Rationing Board administering the OPA program has on alternative but to accept the gasoline quota set on a Certificate of War Necessity issued by the ODT," Mr. Riggs emphasized.

"We would like to make it very plain that farmers and other operators of commercial vehicles who are now engaged in transporting farm commodities and supplies should make appeals through the County Agricultural Agent or directly to the County U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board. Under the procedure set up by the USDA board will review the individual cases and send its recommendation to the ODT district office for correction.

"Any such inequities cannot be remedied under the regulation by the Office of Price Administration or the OPA's County War Price and Rationing Board, but must be handled through the proper channels to the ODT, which set the gasoline rations for truck operators in issuing Certificates of War Necessity."

However, he pointed out that temporary rations can be granted by the OPA's County War Price and Rationing Board to operators of commercial motor vehicles whose Certificates of War Necessity, because of clerical or other errors obvious on the face of the Certificates provide for less fuel than the operators should have been granted to conduct their operations under ODT regulations.

"Such truck operators will be given sufficient gasoline rations for one month's operation upon presentation of such erroneous Certificates to the OPA War Price and Rationing Board," he said. "In the same manner operators of commercial vehicles whose applications for Certificates of War Necessity are on file but who have not yet received their Certificates, also may obtain temporary rations to enable them to operate through December 31."

Mr. Riggs pointed out that any holder of such a temporary ration who is dissatisfied with the amount of gasoline that has been allowed him by the ODT on his Certificate of War Necessity should appeal to the nearest ODT District Office which can issue a corrected Certificate if proper consideration for making the correction is shown.

"In any case corrections for increases in the amount of gasoline allowed a truck operator by the Certificate of War Necessity must be made by the proper ODT officials and cannot be made by the OPA's County War Price and Rationing Board," Mr. Riggs said. "It is not the function of the OPA or its agencies to question the mileage rationing figures set by the ODT. Our Board is obliged to follow the figures set by the Office of Defense Transportation."
